A Christmas Message from the Mayor

As 2022 draws to a close it is the perfect time to reflect on the events of the past year. It has been a positive time for the region with life slowly returning to normality and tourism continuing to boom.

We also are thankful for obtaining grant funding for important projects for our community. In 2022, Council has received funding for a dedicated childcare centre in Minlaton, the stage one upgrade of the North Coast Road in Point Turton, more bush camping toilets and a lighting upgrade at the Yorketown airstrip.

Council has also been working with the community on nearly 30 projects which have been funded through the Australian Government's Local Roads and Community Infrastructure Program.

I'm proud to say that our region has also had its fair share of accolades in 2022.

Council was proud to receive the 2021/2022 LGA Scheme Awards Risk Management Major Award for its Strategic Coastal Risk Study in April.

Flaherty's Beach, near Point Turton, received well-deserved recognition as one of Australia's best beaches. Point Turton Caravan Park won the Best Grey Nomad Small Caravan Park category and the Best of the Best award at the Grey Nomad awards.

The Southern Yorke Peninsula Water Tower/Tank Mural Trail was a runner-up in the Australian Street Art Awards.

The trail features mural art on structures at Coobowie, Edithburgh, Stansbury, Yorketown and Port Vincent.

Excitingly, Council is pleased to add two new locations, Wool Bay and Minlacowie, to the trail by the end of the current financial year.

Planning has also progressed for the Robert Street Maitland Concept Plan, Marion Bay Boat Launching Facility and other major projects like the Edithburgh jetty dive stairs.

As a new year approaches, there is tremendous cause for optimism, with further improvements to our region already being planned.

Thank you to Council staff, Elected Members and our wonderful community for making 2022 such a positive year and I look forward to this continuing into 2023.

Until then, on behalf of Yorke Peninsula Council, I wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

WORKSHOP... Yorke Peninsula Council Economic and Tourism Advisor Tramy Ngo and Operations Manager Stephen Goldsworthy at the Edithburgh diving platform co-design workshop. BELOW: DISCUSSION... Members of the community discuss the proposed Edithburgh jetty steps.

Stepping towards Edithburgh dive platform

Yorke Peninsula Council has been working with the local community to upgrade the Edithburgh jetty steps.

Swimmers, snorkelers and divers use the steps to access the water, which is one of the premier diving locations in Australia.

For that reason, Council has obtained concept designs for new dive access steps that have platforms at different heights, so people can easily and safely enter the water regardless of tide height.

Council took the project to a new level with a co-design workshop held on Friday, 18 November.

"The workshop aimed to foster conversation among the community and key stakeholders to determine how to maximise the project," CEO Andrew Cameron said.

"It was not only about upgrading the steps but looking at other ways to improve the Edithburgh jetty experience for visitors and locals, and help turn the site into a true attraction befitting the area's amazing sea life.

"We thank everybody who attended the workshop, in person and online, to contribute to these discussions."

Additional ideas for the project have included a shelter area for people to change into and out of diving gear, an underwater camera showing people the water clarity, an artificial reef structure on the bottom of the lowest dive-step platform and more.

"We are collating and assessing the ideas raised at the workshop," Mr Cameron said.

"We are waiting for an appropriate grant opportunity to be announced, and the funding available will help determine the scale of the project – we will start with the jetty steps upgrade as our top priority and see what's possible from there.

"We want this to be a fantastic facility for Edithburgh and the wider Yorke Peninsula."

Elected Members endorsed $15,000 to obtain the design work for dive access steps through the 2021-2022 Annual Business Plan and Budget.

Road safety reminder this harvest

With an anticipated large grain harvest in most parts of South Australia, motorists are reminded to be aware of the thousands of additional heavy vehicles on the road over the coming months.

Grain Producers SA Chief Executive Officer Brad Perry said many of the extra heavy vehicles will be on country roads during harvest.

"The prospect of high grain production volumes throughout South Australia means more heavy vehicle traffic on our country roads, so road safety must be at the forefront," said Mr Perry.

"Motorists are urged to be patient and exercise caution when interacting with the thousands of extra heavy vehicles on the road over harvest."

Mr Perry said the wet conditions also provide additional challenges for all motorists to be aware of during harvest.

"In many areas on-farm the ground is sodden, so for the grain producers and carriers it's important to have a level access point at paddock entry or loading for heavy vehicle accessibility and safety in all weather conditions," said Mr Perry.

"With such a wet start, harvest in South Australia will continue throughout the festive holiday season, so for those travelling during this period it's important to plan your trips ahead, drive to the conditions and ensure it is completely safe before overtaking trucks and large agricultural vehicles.

"For heavy vehicle operators, this is also a timely reminder to make sure heavy vehicles are correctly registered or permitted and are properly checked before use.

"Whether it's a farm-owned heavy vehicle or grain producers using contractors to cart grain, the message from us is clear: take your time to ensure you've considered any risks and put appropriate steps in place to make your harvest operations safe."

Yorke Peninsula Council Mayor Darren Braund said it is important to share the road appropriately this harvest season.

"The busy holiday period also coincides with harvest so it's important for everyone to be aware of their surroundings and drive to the conditions," Mr Braund said.

"We all want to get to our destination safely these holidays so please respectful to all road users."

Some tips from the South Australian Department for Infrastructure and Transport (DIT) for sharing the road with heavy vehicles include:

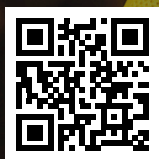

- Plan ahead, be patient and alert, and drive carefully
- Don't exceed the speed limit
- Drive to the conditions, especially when visibility is low
- Ensure it's safe to do so before overtaking trucks and large agricultural vehicles, and leave plenty of room
- Slow down when approaching slower vehicles, or vehicles entering or leaving the road
- Be aware of blind spots for heavy vehicles, as they have bigger blind spots than cars

ROAD SAFETY... Yorke Peninsula Council Mayor Darren Braund said it is important to share the road appropriately this harvest season.

Accessibility on the agenda

Experts in the field of accessibility discussed how to make Yorke Peninsula a better place for all, including people with disabilities and other conditions, during a workshop in Port Vincent on Tuesday, 18 October.

Yorke Peninsula Council, with Tourism Industry Council of South Australia and Yorke Peninsula Tourism, welcomed more than 30 people to the workshop both in person and online.

Jennifer Brunton from the South Australian Tourism Commission discussed the importance of ensuring businesses and tourist offerings could welcome people with accessibility requirements.

Accessibility tourism assists 1.3 million people – seven per cent of the population – and is worth billions of dollars per year, Ms Brunton said. However, the market could be much bigger, as 22-23 per cent of people with a disability are not currently holidaying because they find it too difficult or stressful, she added.

Kadina's Jane Gersch, who lives with an acquired brain injury, discussed her experiences holidaying and what she felt could be improved.

"Travellers need to be able to easily determine what accessibility options are available before they holiday, so they can be confident they will be catered for," she said.

"Having a disability can be hard, and you spend a lot of time researching what you can and can't do before a holiday, so that process needs to be easy."

Susan Peucker from Big 4 Renmark Riverfront Caravan Park, which has won awards for being accessible, shared her experiences.

The park installed a sensory room for children with autism, a modest investment that has had huge benefits for the business, among a number of other inclusive initiatives.

All guest presenters were thanked with a gift basket of Yorke Peninsula produce courtesy of Nourished by Jo.

UPDATED POLICY... Construction and Maintenance Worker Malcolm Errington with one of the many roadside trees in the Council region. Council has recently updated its Tree Management Policy which provides a guiding framework for the planting, maintenance, conservation and removal of trees on Council land, including parks, reserves, urban streets and rural roads.

Council updates Tree Management Policy

Yorke Peninsula Council has updated its Tree Management Policy which provides a guiding framework for the planting, maintenance, conservation and removal of trees on Council land, including parks, reserves, urban streets and rural roads.

"Council recognises its responsibility to effectively and reasonably manage trees located on Council land, to minimise risks and maximise benefits on behalf of our community," Operations Manager Stephen Goldsworthy said.

"The review has seen minor changes made to the Policy, including legislative updates and reference to relevant Council policies, procedures and standard forms.

"Another notable addition is reference to the Aboriginal Heritage Act 1988, in particular significant Aboriginal Scar Trees."

Individuals and organisations wishing to plant trees or other vegetation on public road carriageways should be aware they are required to submit a written application.

Mr Goldsworthy said Council recognises the cultural, economic, social and environmental value of trees.

"Council is committed to maintaining and, where appropriate, increasing the number of trees across the district," Mr Goldsworthy said.

"Council recognises the importance of going green which contributes to community wellbeing and enhances biodiversity.

"Where consistent with the function, character and amenity of the land in question, Council's tree management activities will place emphasis on enhancing biodiversity by giving consideration to species selection, landscape connectivity, habitat availability, and the use of local provenance plantings."

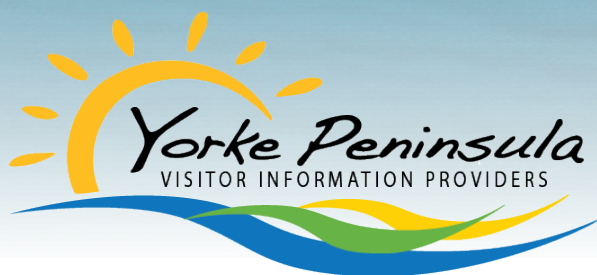

Council views the removal of healthy and established trees as undesirable but recognises it may be required on occasion.

"The removal of a living tree is viewed by Council as the option of last resort," Mr Goldsworthy said.

"The removal of any tree on Council land without prior approval from Council is strictly prohibited and may result in prosecution."

Guranna Wilba Minlagawingga (Good Day at Minlagawi)

More than 250 children and adults attended the free Nature Festival event Guranna Wilba Minlagawingga (Good Day at Minlagawi) on Thursday, 13 October.

The all-ages event was held in the Minlagawi Gum Flat Reserve, Minlaton, and included a huge range of activities, from cubby building to Nharangga string making and throw sticks, meet and greets with a variety of animals, leaf and rock art, live music, mindful dance and movement, outdoor circus tricks, water bugs, kids' yoga and much more.

The event was proudly supported by Nharangga Aboriginal Progress Association, a SYP Community Hub and Wellbeing SA partnership, and Yorke Peninsula Council.

Animals Anonymous was supported through funding from the Australian Government's National Landcare Program, in partnership with the Northern and Yorke Landscape Board.

Yorke Peninsula Council Environment Officer Letitia Dahl-helm said she was pleased the weather forecast didn't discourage people from attending.

"This year more activities were on offer including wadna (boomerang) throwing, Nharangga string making, rock art, nature crowns, face painting and circus tricks which were all really popular," Mrs Dahl-helm said.

"Animals Anonymous had beautiful bettongs, bandicoots, a large lovely python and a very big and friendly goanna that all the kids couldn't wait to see and talk about.

"Interacting with the animals allowed participants to learn about the benefits of the Northern and Yorke Landscape Board's project Marna Banggara which is reintroducing small marsupials to southern Yorke Peninsula."

Mrs Dahl-helm said the event was the perfect chance to enjoy the great outdoors.

"We're so thankful to all of the partners and hosts who put on such a great day for all," Mrs Dahl-helm said.

"The Nature Festival allows Yorke Peninsula Council, Nharangga Aboriginal Progress Association and SYP Community Hub to show the beauty and significance of Minlagawi Gum Flat, whilst promoting all of the things you can do in nature anytime, anywhere."

Building inclusive tourism on YP

TRIAL... Stephen Helps, of Warooka, uses one of the mobility aids as part of the trial in Marion Bay.

Yorke Peninsula Council has continued working towards creating an accessible and inclusive tourism sector with a trial of MT Push and eTrike mobility aids.

Yorke Peninsula Council proudly partnered with Yankallila Council and the Legatus Group to undertake the trial through the Open the Door to Nature Project, funded by the Department of Social Services.

The mobility aids were available at Minlaton Caravan Park, SYP Minlaton Show and Marion Bay Caravan Park during the trial, 30 September to 7 October.

Yorke Peninsula Leisure Options coordinator Tanya Walsh led the project for Yorke Peninsula Council, and said it was well received by the community and visitors to the region.

"Participants in the trial spoke about the ease of using the equipment as well as the ability to be a part of the community," Tanya said.

"One participant, who trialled the eTrike, was able to access walking trails and paths that are usually too challenging.

"The design of the eTrike puts the user in control of propelling, braking and steering the chair and, as a battery-assisted chair, the user is able to traverse over all types of terrain with very little exertion."

Yorke Peninsula Council Director of Corporate and Community Services Ben Thompson said the success of the trial reaffirms the importance of making Yorke Peninsula more accessible for all.

"This trial encourages Council to continue seeking partnerships with community groups, local businesses and other stakeholders to explore further opportunities," Mr Thompson said.

"Council aims to make our facilities widely available on a more ongoing basis for all people with a disability living on or visiting the Yorke Peninsula."

Minlaton Caravan Park managers Glenn and Amy Lennerth said the park is prioritising inclusive tourism.

"We are committed to guest experience and providing accommodation options for everyone," they said.

"We are continually working towards accessible and inclusive tourism by improving and upgrading ageing infrastructure including a new camp kitchen and the inclusion of accessibility villas.

"Thus, we were keen to be involved and host the MT Push and eTrikes trial as this was a great initiative, and Minlaton has many off-trail walking and riding tracks around town."

Lighting upgrade for Yorketown Airstrip

The Yorketown Airstrip will be in the spotlight with a runway lighting upgrade ready to take off.

Yorke Peninsula Council has been successful in obtaining $96,738 through the State Government's Support Regional Aviation Program.

The program contributes funding towards infrastructure improvements at regional aerodromes.

The total project is expected to cost $196,738 with Council funding the remainder.

"The funding will be used to upgrade the runway lighting, including the lighting control system to LED lighting with Pilot Activated Airport Lighting Control," CEO Andrew Cameron said.

"The upgrade is required as the current lighting system at the Yorketown airstrip is of an unknown age and is beginning to show signs of age-related deterioration which may impact the ability for the airstrip to be used at night.

"Should this occur it will have a direct impact on the ability for the Royal Flying Doctor Service and CFS to use the airstrip in low light and at night."

Minister for Regional Roads Geoff Brock said safe, operational regional airports are vital in the delivery of essential goods and services such as food supplies, health care and passenger air services to remote communities.

"These regional airports, airstrips and aerodromes provide a vital service to local communities by improving access, boosting tourism and making travel across the state easier," Mr Brock said.

"The upgrades are also crucial for emergency service providers as these facilities often play a critical role in emergencies by giving first responders better and quicker access."

The upgrade is expected to begin in first half of 2023 with works to be completed by 30 June.

Shane and Louise farewell Port Vincent Foreshore Caravan Park

Yorke Peninsula Council would like to thank Louise and Shane Biddell who, after nearly two decades, spent their last day at the Port Vincent Foreshore Caravan Park on Wednesday, 30 November.

Louise and Shane started managing the Port Vincent Foreshore Caravan Park in April 2005 having previously managed the Aldinga and Port Broughton Caravan Parks.

They came to Port Vincent with their four daughters aged 4, 6, 8 and 10.

Louise and Shane ensured the Park was never left behind and reinvented themselves with new playground, games and kid activities, outdoor gas fire, extra-large outside TV, Melbourne Cup and New Year's Eve BBQ and outdoor big screen movie nights.

Louise and Shane have achieved a lot for the Port Vincent Foreshore Park which is the flagship of Council's managed Parks thanks to their hard work, dedication, vision and outstanding customer service.

They have won the Yorke Peninsula Tourism Award in 2016 and 2018, a silver medal in SA Tourism award and winning the Service Excellence award for Yorke Peninsula Tourism.

They list their proudest achievement as building of Vincent Shore Villa, which is such a huge success and also allow people with disabilities to enjoy holidays and relaxation.

Seeing families make so many great holiday memories is a major reward and they have made lifelong friends with people encountered at the Park.

Louise and Shane are now embracing the nomad life themselves, taking time out to explore Australia and taking the occasional gig as relief park managers.

Thank you and all the best with your next venture.

THANK YOU... Yorke Peninsula Council Mayor Darren Braund (right) thanks Shane and Louise Biddell for their long service to the Port Vincent Foreshore Caravan Park.

GARAGE SALE... Coobowie Caravan Park managers Kristy and Steven Evans hosted a community garage sale at the park.

Garage Sale Trail Success

About 36 individual and group sales across nearly 10 locations registered as part of this year's Garage Sale Trail.

The national event, supported locally by Yorke Peninsula Council, ran across two weekends, November 12-13 and 19-20.

The event is a fun way for residents to connect, make some money and minimise belongings going to landfill or being illegally dumped.

About 36 stalls from Arthurtown to Yorketown offered Yorke Peninsula bargain hunters a massive range of preloved items.

Mayor Darren Braund said keeping items in circulation for as long as possible by buying or selling makes sense for the environment.

"It was pleasing to see so many people out and about perusing the various garage sales," Mr Braund said.

"The Garage Sale Trail is all about finding new homes for old items, boosting the circular economy and minimising landfill.

"Why throw something out when you could make some pocket money and let another person enjoy it for a long time to come?"

About 2600 items were listed for sale with an estimated 14,000 kilograms projected to be reused over the weekend.

"Thank you to everyone involved in this year's Yorke Peninsula Garage Sale for making it a success," Mr Braund said.

"We look forward to the event returning in 2023."

About Garage Sale Trail Foundation

Garage Sale Trail is a not-for-profit social enterprise founded by Sydney mates, Darryl Nichols and Andrew Valder.

It seeks to educate Australians on the importance of reuse, and the need to take individual responsibility for the impact of our consumption habits whilst also building stronger, more connected and more resilient communities.

Now in its twelfth year, Garage Sale Trail has grown from a grass roots idea in Bondi Beach where it started in 2010 to being powered by 100 councils nationally and supported by PayPal, fashion resale partner Poshmark and the NSW Environment Protection Authority.

New Council Sworn In

NEW COUNCIL... The new Yorke Peninsula Council was officially sworn in on 30 November at the inaugural meeting of Council. Darren Braund was reinstated as Mayor at the November elections while Richard Carruthers was appointed Deputy Mayor following a vote of the new Council. The new Council consists of, back: Roger Johns, Michael O'Connell, Alan Headon, Tania Stock, Trevor Clerke, Kylie Gray, Scott Hoyle; front: Kristin Murdock, Deputy Mayor Richard Carruthers, Mayor Darren Braund, Adam Meyer and Naomi Bittner.

Driving Towards Heavy Vehicle Access Strategy

Yorke Peninsula Council is working towards developing a Heavy Vehicle Access Strategy to guide the management of heavy vehicle access to Council's road network.

In addition, the strategy aims to set out a program of works to address key issues identified by civil engineering consultancy practice HDS Australia.

Council hosted information sessions in Yorketown and Maitland in conjunction with the Heavy Vehicle Access Strategy Survey. The survey seeks to gauge the opinions of those who primarily use Council's unsealed roads (primary producers and transport operators) as well as the measures proposed to address issues identified by HDS Australia.

"Council has the largest unsealed road network of any Council in South Australia with about 3300 kilometres," Director Assets and Infrastructure Services Andre Kompler said.

"In addition, Council has about 530km of sealed roads, including about 330km of sealed rural roads.

"Council's unsealed road network is primarily used by those in the agricultural industry to facilitate the movement of livestock and grain off farm as well as the movement of agricultural equipment between paddocks."

"The aim of the Network Level Heavy Vehicle Route Assessment is to determine the overall risk of each road segment and categorise the identified risk as low, moderate, high or very high in accordance with accepted heavy vehicle route assessment criteria," Mr Kompler said.

"This initial investigation focussed on Council's rural sealed roads and high use sheeted roads, which make up about 1000km of Council's road network."

HDS Australia provided a report and presentation to Council in July 2019.

"In May 2022, HDS Australia provided a report and presentation to Council for the remainder of the unsealed road network," Mr Kompler said.

"The reports provided by HDS Australia indicate a significant number of very high and high issues.

"Council is now taking steps to address the issues identified by HDS Australia."
