Under Section 29 and 38 of the Freedom of Information Act 1991

Please read the following information prior to completing the attached application form

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

The South Australian Freedom of Information Act 1991 (FOI Act) gives you the right to have documents, concerning your personal affairs, held by any 'agency' that the FOI Act applies to, amended if you believe that they are incomplete, incorrect, misleading or out-of-date. An 'agency' includes South Australian State Government Agencies, Local Government Councils and South Australian Universities.

Applications for amendment of an agency's records must be made in writing in accordance with Section 31 of the FOI Act and be lodged with the agency that holds the record, e.g. if you are seeking to amend police records about yourself, you would lodge your application with South Australia Police.

You can use the attached form to make an application to amend an agency's records or the online FOI application form at <https://www.sa.gov.au/topics/about-sa/government/FOI-application>. Alternatively, you can send a letter or email to the agency that holds the documents.

Requests for Amendment

You can seek an amendment to a document, that you have previously been given access to, if the document contains information about your own personal affairs that, in your opinion, is incomplete, incorrect, out-of-date or misleading.

Applications for amendment need to provide sufficient information to enable the document to be identified and you must also specify the amendment you wish to have made.

Applications for amendment are free.

Applications for amendment will be dealt with by the agency's FOI Officer.

An application for amendment to a document will be dealt with as soon as practicable or within 30 calendar days of it being received.

If you do not receive a determination within 30 calendar days, it is suggested that you contact the FOI Officer at the agency you lodged your application with to request an update on the status of your application.

After processing your application, the agency is required to provide you with a written determination in relation to your application. This is called a Notice of Determination. The Notice of Determination will include the agency's decision in relation to your request and, if your request has been refused, the reasons why this has occurred.

Internal Review

If the agency refuses your request to amend its records you can lodge an application for review or appeal. A request for an Internal Review must be lodged in writing within 30 calendar days of a determination that you are unhappy with. The request must be made in writing to the Principal Officer of the agency that made the determination you are seeking to have reviewed. Refer to SF011B Application for Internal Review of Freedom of Information Determination.

Notations

If an agency refuses to amend its records, you can, in accordance with Section 37 of the Act, require that the agency add a notation to those records. This request must be made in writing and include the notation to be added.

A notation can specify the reasons why you believe the information about your personal affairs is incomplete, incorrect, out-of-date or misleading and include information you believe necessary to complete your records or bring them up-to-date.

Further Information

If you need assistance in making an amendment application, please contact the FOI Unit in the agency that holds the record concerning your personal affairs.
