GROUNDED A HIT

Yorke Peninsula was awash with colour and culture during the inaugural 10-day GROUNDED YP Art Festival.

The rebranded event, which replaced the former YP Art Exhibition, kicked off with a celebration and official opening at Brentwood on Friday, 11 August.

Forty-two events took place across more than a dozen locations from Friday 11 until Sunday 20 August and featured the original exhibitions (Fine Art, Sculpture and Photography) plus a diverse range of added festivities including many workshops.

GROUNDED events included music, performing arts, First Nations Narungga food, arts and culture, artisan markets, ceramics, drawing, acrylic, watercolour lessons and more.

The festival was held during August to coincide with the renowned state-wide South Australia Living Artists Festival (SALA) and the 40th Anniversary of the coveted Yorkes Classic Surf Competition.

Yorke Peninsula Council Mayor said it was wonderful to see so many people getting involved to help make the event a success.

"Council would like to thank everyone who participated in workshops and attended events at the inaugural GROUNDED YP Art Festival," Mr Braund said.

"Events like these don't happen overnight and I would like to thank the Yorke Peninsula Council Arts and Cultural Working Party for their efforts in pulling together a great festival.

"Thanks, must also go to those who hosted workshops, volunteered at the exhibitions, and those who submitted artwork in the three exhibitions.

"We have received fantastic feedback and will thoroughly assess the event with the aim of making it even better in the future."

Arts and Cultural Facilitator Sonya Rankine said thanks must also go to the generous sponsors, volunteers, workshop hosts and people, including many students who submitted artwork across the exhibitions.

"A special mention and thank you to the YP Arts and Cultural Working Group for all their support and work," she said.

The event has been supported by Country Arts SA and Yorke Peninsula Council as well as community groups and businesses, including major sponsors Yorketown Progress Association, Ardrossan Progress Association and SYP Photography Club; gold sponsors Port Vincent Progress Association, Barley Stacks Winery, Sunny Hill Distillery and Bray Signs and Safety; silver sponsors Ray Agnew, Cheetham Salt, Minlaton Septic Pumping Service, Watsacowie Brewing Company, Lakun Mara, Ballara Art and Lifestyle Retreat, Studio Surf, ONE Fiddlewood, YP Country Times and Nutrien Ag Solutions; bronze sponsors Hunt Fuels, Stansbury Progress Association, Tiddy Widdy Progress Association, Jandebrey White Suffolks and 5 Five 7 Five; supporters Nation and donations from Nana Jayne's Café.

GROUNDED FACTS

- About 1,000 attendees recorded across the three exhibitions
- 16 of the 42 workshops were completely sold out
- 792 participants attended workshops
- 1,000+ further engagement from attendees through partnership events (10th anniversary of Pepper Tree Markets and 40th anniversary Yorkes Classic)

Marion Bay boat ramp funded

The major upgrade to the Marion Bay Boat Launching Facility will go ahead thanks to $3.040 million in funding from the State Government.

Council welcomed the funding announcement, through the South Australian Boating Facilities Fund, in July.

Mayor Darren Braund said the funding announcement was exciting news for the Marion Bay and Yorke Peninsula communities.

"The upgrade of the Marion Bay facility has been talked about for many years so the funding announcement is a fantastic step forward," Mr Braund said.

"Council has worked with various stakeholders including users of the ramp to come up with the most appropriate design that will best serve the community for many decades to come.

"This project would not be possible without external funding and Council is very grateful the State Government has seen fit to support such a worthwhile upgrade."

Member for Narungga Fraser Ellis MP was pleased with the announcement.

"For more than five years we have been lobbying for a new Marion Bay boat ramp such is the state of the currently unsafe, single lane concrete strip that serves as a boat launch facility at this very popular tourist destination," he said.

"A new two-lane boat launch facility at Marion Bay with fixed jetty and a new car park will certainly bring with it vital improved safety for all who use it, as well as significant economic and tourism benefits for the growing Marion Bay township and region", Mr Ellis said.

Some of the payment options available to you (dependent on circumstances) include:

- Weekly, fortnightly, or monthly regular payment arrangements (scheduled through your online banking)

To the right of the road, there are several modern, multi-story houses with blue and white exteriors and solar panels on their roofs. The road surface is being upgraded, and a dark car is visible in the foreground. The background shows a wide expanse of the ocean under a clear blue sky.

North Coast Road upgrade major milestone

A major milestone was achieved for North Coast Road, Point Turton, with the sealing of a 1.82km section of road on Wednesday, 24 May. Upgrades to the section of road started on 30 January and have now reached the final stages with another seal to be applied during the warmer months.

Yorke Peninsula Council received $1,141,000 through the Special Local Roads Program's Supplementary Local Road Funding for stage one of the works.

The upgrade of the road is a result of years of advocacy from Yorke Peninsula Council and local residents.

The total cost of stage one is estimated to be $2,298,000 with Council contributing $1,157,000 towards the project.

Stage one includes sealing, earthworks, stormwater management including the installation of stormwater drainage infrastructure, road delineation and installation of traffic control devices.

Following a Request for Tender process, Downer was appointed as the successful contractor for stage one.

"The upgraded road will make it safer for all who navigate this route," Mayor Darren Braund said.

"The improvements to drainage, road alignment and surfacing will be a noticeable welcome change to the increasing regional tourism traffic along the stretch, and to the wider community served by North Coast Road.

"This project has been at least a decade in the making."

Future works are expected to be completed in stages, subject to future grant funding and Council endorsement.

Stage two is expected to include a similar seal length as stage one; stage three won't include sealing but will create a better surface for the remainder of the road.

Council has recently applied to the SLRP for funding contribution towards stage 2.

"Subject to successful grant funding contribution, Council looks forward to continuation of the great outcomes achieved to date," Mayor Braund said.

Airstrip upgrades complete

Yorke Peninsula Council has completed much-needed upgrades at two of its airstrips.

The general aviation area at Maitland has been extended and given a new seal while at Yorketown, Council has improved air landing safety with the provision of new pilot-activated lighting.

Director of Assets and Infrastructure Andre Kompler said the surface at Maitland should now last longer.

This project received grant funding from the Australian Government.

"Additionally the balance of runway, taxiway and general aviation area was crack repaired, provided with a highly resilient two-coat rubberised seal along with new line marking," Mr Kompler said.

"The Maitland project was delivered at a cost of $296,482 against a project budget of $299,840, with the Federal Government contributing $239,840 in grant funding from the Regional Airports Program."

Mr Kompler said Yorketown airstrip's lighting has been a longstanding issue with several grant funding opportunities previously explored.

"In 2022, a grant application to the State Government under the Support Regional Aviation Program Round 7 was successful," Mr Kompler said.

"The project in the amount $196,738 was funded via a $100,000 grant, with Council funding the balance."

Official mural opening

Council hosted an opening event for the new Wool Bay Water Tank Mural on Thursday, 8 June.

Federal Member for Grey Rowan Ramsey, State Member for Narungga Fraser Ellis, Mayor Darren Braund, elected members and members of the community attended the event.

The mural was designed and painted by Sam Brooks with the assistance of Mark Harding, Harley Hall, Rachelle Plazeriano and Gary Nowlan. The artwork is part of the Southern Yorke Peninsula Water Tower Mural extension project which also includes the recently completed giant mural at Minlacowie.

"It is exciting to see The Southern Yorke Peninsula Water Tower Mural Trail grow with the inclusion of Wool Bay and Minlacowie," Mayor Darren Braund said.

"The trail now includes eight vibrant tourist destinations including at Minlacowie, Wool Bay, Port Vincent, Coobowie, Yorketown, Stansbury, Edithburgh and Port Moorowie.

"All of the murals along the trail are unique and eye catching, and together they now create a great self-drive loop around southern Yorke Peninsula."

The project was managed by Yorke Peninsula Council and funded by the Australian Government's Local Roads and Community Infrastructure Program and SA Water.

BEST OF... Point Turton Caravan Park managers Malcolm and Dani Wheadon.

Point Turton voted best caravan park in SA

Point Turton Caravan Park has been voted South Australia's best caravan park as part of The Advertiser's latest "best of" series. Point Turton, part of the suite of Yorke Peninsula Council Holiday Parks, was amongst 45 shortlisted parks in the state. Voters chose it ahead of BIG4 Renmark Riverfront, West Beach Parks, Brighton Beachfront Holiday Park and Streaky Bay Islands Caravan Park.

Managers Malcolm and Dani Wheadon said the park's location is stunning with everything right at its front door.

"The view over Hardwicke Bay is unforgettable," they said.

"The jetty and boat ramp are easily accessed by the fishing enthusiasts, beautiful swimming areas abound nearby and the sheltered bay is perfect for kayaking and paddle boarding.

"Of course the famous Flaherty's Beach, which has been listed amongst Australia's best beaches in recent times, shimmers from across the bay.

"It is a hot spot in summer for everyone who loves the beach while winter fire nights offer the best social environment for travellers to meet like-minded people and make lifelong friendships and lasting memories."

Point Turton Caravan Park is no stranger to accolades, having been named the Best of the Best Caravan Park and Best Small Caravan Park at the 2022 Grey Nomad Awards.

The Best of the Best is awarded to parks that impressed the judges the most, as determined by the highest cumulative score from all Grey Nomad winners.

Mayor Darren Braund said the recognition from The Advertiser's readers was good news for the region and spoke volumes about the service provided.

"We congratulate the managers, Dani and Malcolm Wheadon, for this well-deserved award," he said.

"Council recognises their hard work, motivation and excellent customer service and we are very proud to have been voted the best Caravan Park in SA.

"Council continues to invest in holiday parks as it recognises the importance of tourism for the economy of the Yorke Peninsula.

"Tourism creates new jobs, businesses, events, and attractions therefore diversifying the local economy as well as building great social relationships between visitors and the local community."

New booking system for Bush Camping

Yorke Peninsula Council has endorsed the development and implementation of a new third-party booking system for its 19 Bush Camping sites.

Council's Bush Camping was implemented in 2016 to concentrate campers in specific locations to minimise illegal camping, littering and other issues.

An in-house online permit booking system was established and initially worked well; however, an influx of campers in the past three years has revealed limitations with the booking system.

Council staff have assessed Bush Camping and noted the following areas for improvement: the need to limit the total number of permits sold; allow campers to book specific campgrounds; improve the tourism product; and, reduce the environmental impact at each bush camping site.

Having too many campers at once during peak periods has led to complaints from visitors unable to find an available spot, rubbish overflow, environmental concerns, staff working overtime and reputational damage to bush camping and tourism on Yorke Peninsula more broadly.

Staff audited all 19 campgrounds to determine maximum capacity, allowing generous room at each site so campers could fit comfortably.

Maximum capacity was determined to be 458 sites, with the potential to create more sites if required.

Benefits of introducing a capacity limit include: improved visitor safety risk management planning; reduced impact on locals living near camping areas; improved data accuracy allowing for better ongoing bush camping management; and, planning for resource distribution.

The existing online booking system cannot accommodate for such changes and staff have investigated the implementation of a professional third-party booking system.

Such a system would allow for each campground to have a set maximum capacity.

Other information such as phone signal, slope of the ground and more would be provided, along with tourism photos promoting each location.

Exactly where campers could set up would remain self-managed (first-in best-dressed).

For people who like the freedom of the current system allowing them to move freely between campgrounds, they will be able to manage their own booking and see whether their intended next destination(s) have capacity before packing up and moving.

INFO SESSION... Mark Western, from Integrated Coasts, presenting at the Foul Bay information session held in Warooka.

Council hosts coastal protection information sessions

Yorke Peninsula Council held a series of Coastal Protection Structures and Adaptation Projects community information session in July/August.

Sessions were held in Warooka, Coobowie, Pine Point, James Well and Port Clinton.

Council has initiated Coastal Protection Structures and Adaptation Projects for the townships bordering Gulf St Vincent at higher risk of flooding.

The project is supported through funding from the Coast Protection Board and is in response to previous coastal events.

"The conditions of Gulf St Vincent see some townships vulnerable to seawater flooding during high tides and storm surges," Operations Manager Stephen Goldsworthy said.

"Over time the seawater flood risk will also increase with sea level rise.

"Council has previously undertaken seawater flood studies, investigating the potential extent of seawater flooding and identifying future adaptation options to manage seawater flood risk. "Areas have been identified that require flood protection to prevent inundation of roads, other assets and properties."

Mr Goldsworthy said the project is about looking forward and planning to protect coastal settlements.

"Foul Bay is one of the communities in most urgent need with sea water flooding public access to Mud Alley in mid-2021," Mr Goldsworthy said.

"This event reduced the foreshore sand dune bank, resulting in there now being limited controls in place to stop seawater inundation."

Port Clinton, James Well, Pine Point and Coobowie have also been identified as high priority because of erosion and flooding issues.

"Council cannot proceed with any construction works to address the issues without detailed designs," Mr Goldsworthy said.

"Council intends to source funding to implement this design work in future years."

$15,000 for landscape management

Yorke Peninsula Council has received $15,000 through the Northern and Yorke Landscape Board's Grassroots Grants for landscape management projects.

Council has received $5,000 for the ongoing weed control at Minlagawi Gum Flat Reserve and $10,000 for weed control and rehabilitation at Coobowie Beach Road Reserve.

The reserve at Coobowie was previously a sand quarry and has been backfilled with rocks and rubble material in the past.

"Given sea level rises and increased storm surge activity is predicted for this coast, the maintenance of stable and vegetated foredunes is a high priority in coastal areas in order to withstand high tide events and prevent flooding," Operations Manager Stephen Goldsworthy said.

"At Coobowie the foredune is currently stabilised which should be maintained to prevent loss of sand due to the action of wind and water.

"This could also be bolstered by additional plantings and landscaping in the area behind the dune."

The reserve's former use has left it uneven, and a haven for weedy plant species.

"The removal of this material would not compromise the integrity of the foredune and levelling of the land would create a native reserve which is easier to manage and more aesthetically pleasing," Mr Goldsworthy said.

"Land uses that are compatible with the conservation zoning could include the addition of a walking trail and/or seating, revegetation with native coastal plants or other amenities which do not weaken the foredune."

At Minlagawi, Council will complete weed control of invasive casuarina glauca (swamp oak) to protect native vegetation and Narungga cultural values.

"Swamp oak, whilst native to New South Wales and Queensland, is not indigenous to South Australia and has become a weed, with infestations excluding other species and changing the habitat values for native flora," Mr Goldsworthy said.

"The swamp oak is particularly detrimental to the river red gums, which the reserve is named after, a sub-species that is only found on Yorke Peninsula in the reserve.

"The river red gums are significant to Narungga people, providing food, shade, shelter, material for tools, and a range of other provisions."
